PRIZES

Trophies will be awarded to first place in each stake; standard C.K.C. Rosettes will be awarded to First, Second, Third and Fourth places in each stake.

JUDGING

From their mounted vantage point the judges see much more than the handler on the ground and controversy can arise because of this. The judges have a difficult time placing dogs as it is without this added frustration. Please approach the trial with a feeling of true sportsmanship and let the judges decision stand unmolested.

GET TOGETHER

There will be an informal get together to be announced at the trial.

FIELD TRIALS

Here is what is generally looked for in dogs competing in the various stakes:

PUPPY STAKE

Only natural abilities are taken into consideration.

1. Instinct and desire to hunt.
2. Intelligence.
3. Instinct to point.
4. Good nose.
5. Nervous energy.
6. Tractable disposition.
7. Courage and good constitution.
8. Good conformation, style and appearance.

DERBY STAKE

Not a finished dog, but should:

1. Show some bird sense, speed, range and stamina.
2. Hunt to the course, locate and point quickly and accurately.
3. Be staunch.
4. Back on sight.

A Derby dog should not:

1. Get out of hand or bolt.
2. Cut in.
3. False point.
4. Blink.
5. Be bird or gun shy.
6. Trail.
7. Potter.

A Derby dog may:

1. Disregard the wind.
2. Hunt for foot scent (but not persistently).
3. Be unsteady.

FIELD TRIALS (Cont'd)

SHOOTING DOG

A shooting dog should be a completely finished dog and should:

1. Show class, bird sense, speed, range and stamina.
2. Hunt to the course searching up wind for body scent.
3. Locate and point quickly and accurately.
4. Be staunch, steady to wing and shot and back on sight.
5. Stop to flush.

A shooting dog should not:

1. Get out of hand, bolt or cut in.
2. False point, potter, hunt foot scent, blink or trail.

By the time a dog reaches the Shooting Dog stake, the results of its training should be obvious and a lack of such things as steadiness to wing and shot should be severely penalized.

POINTERS

The Pointer was the first dog to stand game, to indicate its presence by establishing a point, assuming a rigid position confronting the game. Pointers came into use throughout Eastern Europe and the British Isles some time before the middle of the seventeenth century and it was in Great Britain that the development of the breed took place.

With the advent of wing shooting early in the eighteenth century, Pointers came into their own as gun dogs, continuing to hold a high place in both the sport of upland gunning and field trials right up to the present. Well back in the pointing lineage, the hound influence is undoubtedly strong as is that of the "setting spaniel".

The Pointer is compactly built, with conformation to enable fast pace and graceful action and bred for remarkable stamina. Ears are thin, lying flat and set low. The darker shades of eyes preferred. The chest is deep and ribs well sprung, muscular quarters, with legs of moderate length and of good bone and feet closely set. Range of weight from 40 to 60 pounds.

* * * * *

Did you know -- there are 1.2 dogs for every family in the U.S.A. or approximately 22 million dogs.

* * * * *

Throughout the world, there are some 200 recognized breeds of dogs.

SUN VALLEY CHAIR & FURNITURE

MAKERS OF CONTEMPORARY FURNITURE
FOR HOME AND OFFICE

JENS THOMSEN

211 - 6th Street Southwest
Calgary, Alberta

Hand Crafted Teak Furniture

Made in Calgary

Original in design hand crafted teak furniture is being produced on a limited scale by the Sun Valley Chair and Furniture Company in Calgary. Danish craftsman Jens Thomsen who immigrated to Canada in 1954 after 17 years with a large furniture manufacturer in Denmark is turning out a variety of contemporary furniture for home and office. He plans expansion as warranted by the demand for products and is presently working alone. Specializing in teak furniture, the plant which has been in operation since May 1961 is located at 211 - 6th St. Southwest, Calgary.

ALSO....BREEDER OF GERMAN SHORTHAIRED POINTERS

German Shorthaired Pointer

Known as an "every use" dog, it is now more of an upland game bird specialist, although used by some sportsmen for water fowl retrieving. The breed resulted from judicious crossing of pointers, foxhounds and bloodhounds. It is not so fleet as the Pointer; somewhat higher at the shoulder and heavier; docked tail.

Weimaraner

Its present popularity is based upon a sound and solid foundation. Another of the German "all purpose" dogs. After importations to the United States in 1929, the breed boomed. He parallels the German Shorthaired Pointer for size. Coat is short, smooth, and sleek in shades of mouse-grey to silver-grey. Height at withers: for males, 25 to 27 inches; females somewhat smaller.

Brittany Spaniel

The only pointing spaniel, hails from France where it has been a popular gun dog for years. Comes from the section of France known as Bretagne or Brittany. The Brittany is longer legged and rangier than the cocker and springer. Its ears are shorter and coat not as silky. The predominating colors are white and orange although others are common. Short tails are natural but occasionally they are both tailless.

Wirehaired Griffon

A greyish-red field dog combining the qualities of both pointer and setter but having a thick, hard coat, enabling it to work readily in thickets and rough country. It originated in Germany at the end of the nineteenth century.

EXPRESSIONS AND WHAT THEY MEAN:

Staunchness - A term used to describe a dog on point and indicates that he maintains a rigid pose and does not break point to flush birds on his own accord.

Steadiness - Dogs in mature stakes are required to remain steady as opposed to chasing when birds are flushed by handler. They must also remain steady at shot. Lack of steadiness will result in the dog being severely penalized.

False Point - Pointing when there is no bird. Some birds, especially pheasants, being runners will result in points by the dog at which the handler will be unable to produce a bird. Ample opportunity should be given the dog to relocate, however, should the dog fail to properly relocate, it will generally be penalized for this inability.

If a dog points, then moves on without direction from the handler to re-establish, a point which proves to be productive, the dog will not be considered to have false pointed but rather to have corrected his location.

Blinking - Intentionally avoiding birds. This fault is found in many different forms, two of which are:

- (1) The dog points momentarily then moves on without birds being flushed.
- (2) The dog leaves his point when the handler appears, slinks back and timidly follows the handler at heel.

Blinking results in a dog being totally useless for hunting and is therefore considered by some to be the worst of all faults. This fault can be caused by harsh training methods.

Backing - A dog comes upon another dog which is pointing and without catching scent of the game strikes a pointing stance. Backing may be done either voluntarily or at command.

Trailing - Following brace mate. A dog can be guilty of trailing even though he remains to the fore of the other dog. This type is referred to as a head trailer.

EXPRESSIONS AND WHAT THEY MEAN (Cont'd)

Pottering - Nosing about on foot scent. Slow indecisive questing about.

Cutting In - Returning to handler.

Back Casting - Searching behind handler.

Bolting - Running completely out of control of the handler - self hunting.
